I also saw it done in London; there is so much to it I'm glad I read it in advance.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Laughter in abundanceBy Stephanie AhlbergFunny, funny show!!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Made me laugh out loud!By Michael Cervantes, Jr.As good as Noises

Off. I laughed out loud!

Good evening. I'm Inspector Carter. Take my case. This must be Charles Haversham! I'm sorry, this must've given you all a damn shock. After benefitting from a large and sudden inheritance, the inept and accident-prone Cornley Polytechnic Drama Society embark on producing an ambitious 1920s murder mystery. They are delighted that neither casting issues nor technical hitches currently stand in their way. However, hilarious disaster ensues and the cast start to crack under the pressure, but can they get the production back on track before the final curtain falls? The Play That Goes Wrong is a farcical murder mystery, a play within a play, conceived and performed by award-winning company Theatre Mischief. It was first published as a one-act play and is published in this new edition as a two-act play.

ldquo;Immaculately staged . . . reduced even a staid matinee audience to hystericsrdquo; *The Times*ldquo;Effortless slapstick that Keaton and Chaplin would be hard pushed to trumprdquo; *Whatsonstageldquo;*For a side-splitting, jolly good laugh, The Play That Goes Wrong is exactly what the doctor orderedrdquo; *British Theatre Guideldquo;*A highly developed sense of mischief and cheeky aplomb ... it's all very silly ... but it's done with just the right amount of tongue-in-cheek.rdquo; *Guardian*ldquo;Boy does it hit the funny bone ... a rising tide of hysteria ... an enduring cult hit in the makingrdquo; *Daily Telegraph*ldquo;This new comedy has, of course, actually done everything right . . . there are laughs to be had here . . .rdquo; *Time Out London*ldquo;Farce is rarely funnier; the theatre of the absurd, rarely more surreal.rdquo; *Independent*ldquo;often very funny . . . slapstick, done well, can reduce even the gravest souls into tears and there are some perfectly timed pratfalls hererdrquo; *Financial Times*ldquo;these improv stand-up Lamda graduates are definitely on to something.rdquo; *Daily Express*About the AuthorHenry Lewis, Jonathan Sayer and Henry Shields are members of Theatre Mischief, a company dedicated to creating engaging and exciting short-form and long-form improvised theatre of an excellent standard through well-honed improvisational technique and strong theatrical ensemble work, formed of students and graduates of the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art (LAMDA). Founded in 2008, the award-winning company has performed around the UK, creating new long-form and short-form show formats to thousands of people.
