This anthology consists of ten plays from countries involved in the First World War, including plays from Germany and France never before available in translation. Representing a range of dramatic forms, from radio play to street-

epic, from comic sketch to musical, this anthology includes plays from: Gertrude Stein, Muriel Box, Marion Wentworth Craig, Dorothy Hewett, Berta Lask, Marie Leneru, Wendy Lill, Alice Dunbar Nelson, and Christina Reid. Highly successful in their day, these plays demonstrate how women have attempted to use theatre to achieve social change. The collection explores the historical development of theatrical conventions and genres and the historical context of social and gender issues.

"An invaluable source of primary documents for pushing forward the evolving complexity associated with women's war writing, this anthology includes plays connected to WWI. Highly recommended for upper-division undergraduates through professionals." - Choice, July-August 2000 About the Author Claire Tylee is Lecturer in English at Brunel University; Elaine Turner is Lecturer in Drama at the University of Warwick and Brunel University; and Agnes Cardinal is Lecturer in European Culture at the University of Kent.
