Like Shopping LA which has been out of print for ...By LoriI guess I was expecting something more on the line of where to find unusual things for stylists trying to create a unique look. Like Shopping LA which has been out of print for a while. But if you want high end boutiques and some vintage finds, buy it. But I think a few things are missing. Like UAL in Nashville. And I just spent 6 months in Sydney and there is a street of vintage shops with lots of retro rocker items that wasn't mentioned. Booth is a great fashion writer and I'm a fan but the book wasn't for me.5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Stick to the internet....By April Denise WheelerIt's not very insightful or helpful. I'll regift it.3 of 3 people found the following review helpful.

Ah. OK.By CellaichThis book is good if you're a world traveler or if you live near or close to one of the larger cities they mention. I wouldn't waste bookshelf space on it.

"A compendium of the best stores around the world and the stylish people who love them." —;Isabel Wilkinson, T Magazine About the AuthorBooth Moore has been an Olympic-level shopper since she was a schoolgirl in New York City. After graduating from Duke University, she began her career in that city of the sensible suit, Washington, DC, at The Washington Post. Moore joined The Los Angeles Times in 1996, where she logged tens of thousands of miles as the paper's fashion critic, covering the runways in New York, London, Milan, and Paris (and stopping to shop along the way). She left The Times in 2015, is now Senior Fashion Editor at The Hollywood Reporter, and has contributed to The New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Town Country, and Conde Nast Traveler, among other publications. She lives in Los Angeles with her husband, two cats, and an overflowing closet room that could one day be a pop-up store.
